

Garden Days at Troy Gardens 2013

The second annual CAC Garden Days took place the weekend of September 13-15 at 13 area community or food pantry gardens. The event, sponsored by Community Action Coalition for South Central Wisconsin, celebrates community and pantry gardens and the benefits they bring to their neighborhoods.

Similar to last year, the weather was perfect and over 100 people attended the event at Troy Gardens. Kids, and adults alike, took their turn at cranking the antique apple press producing delicious cider. Others watched Hmong cooking demonstrations or took tours of Troy's tallgrass prairie, the Troy Community Farm or the Kids' Garden, including the chickens. A group of visitors were led through the Natural Areas for some fun activities, and a local Master Gardener was even on hand to answer a variety of gardening questions.

Several participants from the Gardening for Good program at Troy Gardens attended. The program helps adults with disabilities learn about gardening and related topics with the help of volunteers.

Dozens of attendees went home with fantastic door prizes donated by local businesses. Thanks to those businesses for supporting Troy Gardens, and a big thank you to CAC staff and all the volunteers who helped make Garden Days at Troy Gardens 2013 a success.
